The administrators and teachers lead with dedication and creativity, fostering a transparent and resilient atmosphere where every child, including ours, can thrive culturally and academically. It's a community that truly scaffolds learning, celebrates resilience, and embraces flexibility, making us feel incredibly lucky to be here.”

-Andrea Poole, Prior

I always emphasize that at UAS, they don't just educate students, they educate individuals. During my time at UAS, all the teachers taught us how to think and analyze the various subjects we were studying; assignments were not primarily based on memorization. I believe that literature courses, both in English and Spanish, had a significant impact on improving my writing skills and interpreting events more effectively.
